

SCIP DECLARATION

SCIP is a database that collects information on substances of concern and contained in goods or complex objects (products). Starting on January 5, 2021, companies supplying the EU market with products need to provide information to the database on the articles containing substances in the list of substances in a concentration above 0.1 % of the total weight of their product.

The database is created to provide waste handlers with information on harmful substances in the waste, so that these substances can, if possible, be recycled and reused in the production of new articles.
